INSPECTION IS MADE OF BOILERMAKER GROUP

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 21.—Representing former Senator Thomas Kearns, Oliver Allen, the well known mining expert of Park City, has just completed an inspection of the Bollermaker group of mining claims located in Box Elder county, about eight miles from Brigham City. The group of claims is owned by Art Mohlman, Tom Watson, Dave Watson and Will Watson, residents of Park City. Mr. Mohlman has just received a report from the mining engineer which is highly encouraging. Some of the ore samples taken from the mine will run as high as 200 ounces of silver. On the surface of the claims Mr. Allen found eight feet of rose quartz and galena and in the tunnel, which is 800 feet long and reaching a depth of 900 feet, a fine vein of cube galena is being followed. According to Mr. Allen's report from the observations he has made, there are big bodies of rich ore to be opened up before long.

EUREKA, June 31.—At about 10 10 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the boiler room at the Chief Consolidated mine, which soon gained headway and spread to the shaft house, but on the arrival of the fire department the flames were soon under control.

As soon as the alarm was given the men at work in the shaft were immediately brought to the surface, as there was danger of their being suffocated.

For a time the fire caused great excitement throughout the city, as reports were spread that the miners were in danger and hundreds of people rushed to the scene of the catastrophe. The buildings were damaged to the extent of about $500, but none of the machinery at the mine was damaged.
